VOGUE LOVES

Shoe Thing

When Chau Har Lee brought her sculptural footwear creations into the Vogue office, she drew a crowd of admirers. She has just completed her MA at the Royal College of Art and recently won the ITS Accessories Collection of the Year 2009 award and Manolo Blahnik RCA 2009 award. The shoe designer has also been approached by several labels to design their footwear ranges. We think she is a standout because her approach to shoe design is extremely inventive, including a Perspex shoe that fits together like pieces in a puzzle to form a gravity-defying, architectural shape.
